

1996

Blanket-Watched T.V.

Lyla Norris

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.library.uab.edu/astarte>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons, and the English Language and Literature Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Norris, Lyla (1996) "Blanket-Watched T.V.," Astarte: Vol. 5, Article 12.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.library.uab.edu/astarte/vol5/iss1996/12>

This content has been accepted for inclusion by an authorized administrator of the UAB Digital Commons, and is provided as a free open access item. All inquiries regarding this item or the UAB Digital Commons should be directed to the UAB Libraries Office of Scholarly Communication.

(Typescript of the manuscript reproduced as inside liner of this edition)

Blanket-Watched T.V.

Since t.v. first came out, I've been sorta' addicted. My favorite programs are the News, sit-coms, soaps and old cowboy or funny movies, and classics like Oklahoma, Miracle on 34th Street and Sound of Music and Wizard of Oz. But, how much do I really like t.v.? You may get a better idea if I tell you a story. We kept kids before and after school (we being my twin and I) among the kids were my two sons. They liked watching cartoons on Sat. morns. and they liked General Hospital as much as we did. My t.v. conked out and we were sad. But, the old one that had been through a fire and made it five more years making its usage span eight years sat in the bedroom closet's floor. My twin got it out and twisted every twistable thing on it and it worked. The picture was very dim though. We found out that by putting a blanket over it and our selves we could see Di and Charles wedding! From that moment on we have laughed about our blanket watched tv. At the present time my t.v. is one that was hit by lightning and thrown away. But, once again we have an old tv that works. It's color on all channels except my favorite ch. 6. It's black and white on 6. It's depressing because I like to see what Vanna's dress looks like every week night.

--Lyla Norris