Arts in Medical Education

Starting March 20, the University of Alabama at Birmingham will host a series of events to highlight the intersection of arts and medicine. The series will feature a variety of events, including lectures, workshops, and performances, all designed to foster a deeper understanding of how the arts can enhance the medical profession.

Research & learning

- Parenting Resource Center
  - To support families with young children, a new center will be opened to provide resources and support. The center will offer workshops, counseling, and educational programs.

- Summer Undergraduate Research Opportunities
  - The university is offering summer research opportunities for undergraduate students. These opportunities will allow students to engage in research projects under the guidance of experienced faculty members.

- Spring Expo
  - The annual Spring Expo will take place on April 4. The event will feature talks, workshops, and exhibits related to various fields of research and education.

- Alumni Theater
  - The university's alumni theater will host several performances, including plays, concerts, and film screenings. These events will be open to the public and provide an opportunity for alumni to reconnect with the university community.

Clinical Trials

- New Study
  - A new clinical trial is currently recruiting participants. The trial will focus on the effects of a new medication on chronic pain.

Visit UAB on Facebook

- Facebook Page
  - Stay connected with UAB through their official Facebook page. Follow them for updates on upcoming events, news, and other important information.

Benefits

- Enhancements to Retirement Plans
  - The university's voluntary retirement plans will be enhanced, offering participants more options and flexibility.

- Voluntary 403(b) Plan
  - Participants in the voluntary 403(b) plan will have the option to enroll in a new program that offers additional benefits.

Events

- Thursday, March 15
  - The university will host a symposium on the history of the printing press. The event will feature presentations by experts in the field.

- Friday, March 16
  - A workshop on the use of artificial intelligence in the classroom will be held. Participants will learn about the latest tools and techniques for integrating AI into teaching.

- Saturday, March 17
  - A lecture on the history of the United States will be presented by a renowned historian. The lecture will cover significant events and their impact on modern society.

- Monday, March 19
  - A panel discussion on the future of medicine will be held. The panel will feature experts from various medical fields, discussing the latest trends and challenges.

Future Dates

- Wednesday, March 21
  - A free concert will be held as part of the university's lecture series. The concert will feature live performances by student and faculty musicians.

- Thursday, March 22
  - A workshop on the use of social media in research will be held. The workshop will provide participants with strategies for effectively using social media to promote their research.

- Friday, March 23
  - A lecture on the history of the United States will be presented by a renowned historian. The lecture will cover significant events and their impact on modern society.

Resources

- UAB Reporter
  - Read the latest news and updates from the university through their online platform. The website is updated regularly with new articles and features.