

2020

E Minor Sonata

Sean Singer

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.library.uab.edu/bpr>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons, and the English Language and Literature Commons

Recommended Citation

Singer, Sean (2020) "E Minor Sonata," Birmingham Poetry Review. Vol. 47, Article 90.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.library.uab.edu/bpr/vol47/iss2020/90>

This content has been accepted for inclusion by an authorized administrator of the UAB Digital Commons, and is provided as a free open access item. All inquiries regarding this item or the UAB Digital Commons should be directed to the UAB Libraries Office of Scholarly Communication.

Sean Singer

E Minor Sonata

Today in the taxi, driving north on 31st Street in Astoria, a bus went through a red light and nearly killed me and my passenger.

Hit with a heavy object, some carrion is misshapen red, part-raccoon, with wet fur was washed in roadlight.

If ever there was wanting, you have found it. If something was lost, let it be discovered. Dusk's pink varnish, please swallow the continent whole.

Earlier, my passengers were making out like they were the last people on Earth. Simone Weil said Attention is the rarest and purest form of generosity.