

2001

About the Contributors

Vulcan Historical Review Staff

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.library.uab.edu/vulcan>

Part of the History Commons

Recommended Citation

Staff, Vulcan Historical Review (2001) "About the Contributors," Vulcan Historical Review: Vol. 5, Article 5.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.library.uab.edu/vulcan/vol5/iss2001/5>

This content has been accepted for inclusion by an authorized administrator of the UAB Digital Commons, and is provided as a free open access item. All inquiries regarding this item or the UAB Digital Commons should be directed to the UAB Libraries Office of Scholarly Communication.

ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS

ARCHIVISTS

James L. Baggett completed both his bachelor's and master's degrees in history at UAB. Currently, he is Head of the Birmingham Public Library Archives and Archivist for the City of Birmingham. He is Chairman of the Jefferson County Historical Commission, past president of the Society of Alabama Archivists, and a founding member of the Birmingham Historical Records Project, a consortium of Birmingham area archives.

Wayne Coleman is Head of the Archives Division at the Birmingham Civil Rights Institute. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Communications from Loyola University and an archival certification from the Academy of Certified Archivists. His areas of interest include African American and United States history. He is a founding member of the Birmingham Historical Records Project.

Tim L. Pennycuff is the University Archivist at UAB and is the Assistant Director for Historical Collections at Lister Hill Library of Health Sciences. He holds a bachelor's degree from Tennessee Technological University and a master's degree from the University of Alabama library school. A member of the Society of Alabama Archivists and the Society of American Archivists, he is a founding member of the Birmingham Historical Records Project.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS

Rhonda K. Mitchell will complete the B.A. in History in August of 2003. She completed her essay "Birmingham in Black and White" under the direction of Dr. Jack E. Davis. Mitchell is a non-traditional student, attending classes and working full time. She will continue her education on the graduate level by pursuing a degree in law or counseling. Mitchell is also planning to write and illustrate a children's book for young victims of abuse. Mitchell is on the 2001 editorial board of The Vulcan Historical Review.

GRADUATE STUDENTS

Sanford E. Jeames will complete the M.A. in history in June of 2001. He completed his essay "The Search for Factual Understanding" under the direction of Dr. Raymond A. Mohl. Jeames's interests include American political history, African American culture in the South, and southern history. Jeames has taught United States, World, and African American history on the secondary level, and plans to pursue the doctoral degree in history beginning in the fall of 2002.

Jonathan L. Foster plans to complete the M.A. in history in June of 2002. He completed his essay "Radical Loss: The First Black Panthers and the Lowndes County Election of 1966" under the direction of Dr. Jack E. Davis. His main interests are environmental and social history, and he has begun considering doctoral programs in those areas. Foster is on the 2001 editorial board of The Vulcan Historical Review.

Lindsay Stainton-James plans to complete the M.A. in history in August of 2001. Her emphasis is early modern and modern Britain. Stainton-James will begin the doctoral program in history at the University of Tennessee in the fall of 2001.

Kelly Hamilton has recently been awarded a graduate assistant position in the department of history at UAB. She previously taught world history at the secondary level and will focus on European history. Hamilton plans to complete the M.A. in history in May of 2002 and begin teaching at the post-secondary level. She completed her essay "Celtic Christianity" under the direction of Dr. Carolyn A. Conley. Hamilton is on the 2001 editorial board of The Vulcan Historical Review.

Averil Charles Ramsey plans to complete the M.A. in history in August of 2001 and begin the doctoral program in the History and Philosophy of Science at the University of Notre Dame in the fall of 2001. Ramsey's interests include technology policy and the history of American science in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. He completed his essay "CG-CoCom and Was-senaar" under the direction of Dr. James F. Tent and presented it at UAB's Sigma Xi 2001 Graduate Research Day Competition. Ramsey is the 2000-2001 recipient of the David Hart White Award in History, a newly inducted member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, and the managing editor of the 2001 edition of The Vulcan Historical Review.

ALUMNI

Kurt E. Kinbacher completed his master's degree in 2000 with a thesis on Alabama folk music in the early twentieth century. Kinbacher is currently a well-respected instructor of United States history at UAB. His main area of interest is modern United States cultural history and he is currently considering application to doctoral programs in that field.